THIS MONTH!!!

2014 Kensington "Paint the Town" Labor Day Show

August 30-September 1

MAA's Kensington "Paint the Town" Labor Day

Show takes place a little earlier this year because Labor Day is on September 1. The show will begin on Saturday, August 30 and run through Monday, September 1, at the Kensington Armory. This is MAA's signature show of the year. More members participate in this event each year than any of the many offerings from MAA.

Show hours are:

Saturday, August 30,
11:00 AM - 5:00 PM

Sunday, August 31, 11:00
- 5:00 PM

Monday, September 1, 9:30 AM - 5:30 PM

All show registrations are due by August 22, 11:59 pm. NO late or hand-written entries will be accepted.

You may register either online through www.montgomeryart.org or by sending your written application to Elizabeth Stecher, the Show Registrar, at 10812 Margate Road, Silver Spring, 20901. A detailed set of instructions for registration is available on the website. Simply log in and click the "Labor Day Show" bar at the top left of the screen. Scroll down to the bottom on the page and click "2014 Labor Day

MAA 60 Year Anniversary t-shirts and aprons are now for sale at the MAA Gallery. They will also be sold at the Labor Day show .

Show Flyer". This document is not an application form but rather a set of instructions for registration, show participation and operation and show hours. Please read it carefully before sending your registration information to Elizabeth. This show is a very large undertaking with over 500 pieces of art submitted last year. So please don't wait until the last minute to register.

The MAA membership year is September 1 through August 31 so, for those wanting to participate in the show as members, the online process includes a step for 2014-2015 membership enrollment/renewal in addition to show registration. This step also allows you to order a MAA 60th anniversary t-shirt and/or apron ($15) if you want. Merchandise will be available for pickup at the Labor Day show during drop off and show times.

Both MAA members and non-members may participate in the show. In addition to the various benefits of MAA membership throughout the year, MAA members receive discounted Labor Day show entry fees and can also sell cards and bin work at the show. You must bring your own bin.

Registration Training and Assistance/ General Information

In August, we will be providing two Labor Day Show registration training and assistance sessions at the MAA Gallery at the following times:

- Tuesday, Aug 5, 4 – 8 pm
- Tuesday, Aug 19, 4-8 pm

Before mailing in your application form or going through the online Pay Now process (which makes the entry final), please make sure you are totally set on what pieces you want to enter, what their titles and media are, and what you want to charge for them. That will make everything that much easier for everyone.

For those doing the process online, please note you can complete and edit the information for your pieces over time, adding one, then others at different sessions up to the final registration deadline. But, once you click the Pay Now button, the entry becomes final.

Also, please carefully type, review, and edit (if needed) the text entered for your individual pieces (title, category, media, price). That text will be extracted and used for the labels. Please make sure your spelling is correct and that you follow the formatting indicated (Capitalize the beginning letter of significant words in the title and media and indicate the price with a $ and no decimal amount).

Questions can be directed to the Show Registrar Elizabeth Stecher (estecher7@verizon.net), Web Manager Cathy

Shoppers at the 2013 Labor Day Show

Hirsh (hirshcathy@gmail.com), or MAA President Michael Shibley (mfs-art@comcast.net).

Volunteer Requirements

In addition to submitting at least one piece in the Kensington category and following the other rules for the show, each registrant must help in some way—be a docent, a cashier, solicit donations, help with publicity or reception support, etc. As we did last year, we are using an online system to schedule volunteer tasks

Again, all show registrations are due by August 22, 11:59 pm. NO late or handwritten entries will be accepted. We are looking forward to another successful show.

President's Message

As summer is approaching its conclusion, that can only mean one thing. The MAA Labor Day Show is not far off!! Have you done your Kensington painting?

With this issue of the Newsletter, we have launched full speed into preparations for the "Paint the Town" Show in Kensington to be held from Saturday, August 30 through Monday, September 1. Please read the article about the show, registration deadlines, how to register and what your requirements are as a participant. Of course, you can find the complete details on the MAA website. Just go to the home page and click on the "Labor Day Show" bar at the top left of the screen. Then scroll down to the last item which is the instructions for registration and participation. As noted elsewhere, Cathy Hirsh will continue to do tutorials on registration at the MAA Gallery during the month of August. There will be two sessions, Tuesday, Aug 5, 4 – 8 pm and Tuesday, Aug 19, 4-8 pm. If you have any questions, please take advantage of this personal assistance that Cathy is offering.

All show registrations are due by August 22, 11:59 pm. NO late or hand-written entries will be accepted.

At the Labor Day Show, you will have a chance to purchase your 60th Birthday MAA t-shirt and artist apron. This is a unique anniversary for our organization that has existed continuously since 1954. That's really amazing for a volunteer-led organization. As members, we should all be thankful for the leadership of our great organization over the years that has gotten us to this point and makes the Labor Day Show possible. Don't miss this opportunity to get your shirt and apron and then display it proudly while you are out painting! Members working the show will be wearing their t-shirts to further recognize this important milestone.

Of course, as the calendar turns, we continue our Featured Artist program at the MAA Gallery during the month of August with the artwork of Pam Gordimer. Her show will open on Tuesday, July 29 and run through Sunday, August 24 with a "Meet the Artist" reception on Sunday, August 3. Please see the article about Pam later in the newsletter.

In this issue, we have also listed the names of the award winners for the Friendship Heights show held in June. Even though we had a reduced amount of space this year due to the Village Center's space needs, we had a very successful show. Congratulations to all of the award winners.

Before closing, I want to let the membership know that the family of Gertrude Wetmore, 1981-1982 MAA President (MCAA at that time), has donated a large quantity of art supplies to MAA. Mrs. Wetmore's home was being sold and her family contacted us to see if we would be interested in the art supplies.

I talked to her son, John Wetmore, who told me that the materials would be discarded if MAA was not interested. Of course, I assured him that we were interested. Consequently, at the last moment, Elizabeth Stecher and I went to the family house in Bethesda and retrieved as much as we could carry in our respective automobiles. There are dozens of unused oil frames of all sizes, large packages of unopened Arches watercolor paper, mat board, cut mats, oil frame stretchers, and much more. In consultation with the MAA Board of Directors, we have decided to hold a fund-raiser sale of the supplies in the fall—probably October. The Board felt strongly that the best way to take advantage of this generous donation and to continue Mrs. Wetmore's contribution to MAA was to make the materials available to the members while using the funds to support the continued operations of MAA. On behalf of MAA, I want to thank John Wetmore and his family for his efforts to make the materials available. We will provide more details about the fund-raiser sale in the weeks and months ahead. My thanks to Elizabeth for helping on such short notice.

That's it for this month. Take care and keep painting.

Featured Artist: Pam Gordimer

The featured artist at the MAA Gallery for the month of August will be Pam Gordimer. In a bit of a departure from our normal interview process, we have included the following text from Pam Gordimer describing her art background in her own words. A full interview will appear in the September issue.

“I grew up an artist’s daughter. Painting beside my mother in her studio since age six, art has been my long-time passion. Although I started college as an Art major, I later changed to Nursing, which offered more financial security. I graduated from Northwestern University nearly twenty-five years ago and worked for fifteen years as a Pediatric ICU Nurse. During that time, however, I continued to hone my skills as an artist, taking classes at the Maryland Institute College of Art. On occasion, I did portrait and landscape commissions.”

“After moving to Fort Worth seventeen years ago, I decided to pursue art more vigorously. First, I enrolled in courses at Texas Christian University (TCU). Then I opened a commercial art business, doing murals and canvas paintings for private and commercial clients. I owned and operated an art gallery called “Stone House Studio”, which I closed when my family and I moved back to Maryland. Since living in Maryland, I have restarted my art career, providing art lessons and painting murals and other commissions. I’ve also started exhibiting my work in galleries and shows.”

Artist, Pam Gordimer

“My art has both realistic and abstract qualities. The pieces are typically based on some form of nature and the landscape, reflecting my time growing up in the country’s heartland. The simple beauty of the prairie made me look closely at light and shadow, and their effects on the landscape throughout the changing seasons.”

“I consider myself an intuitive painter. My paintings change and evolve as the brush works the canvas. I believe that an artist has a higher calling, to share with the world what can only truly be seen through an artistic eye. It is a unique gift to interpret the world’s beauty by bringing a blank canvas alive with brilliant color and light.”

The public and members of MAA will get to see the artwork of this talented artist at the MAA Gallery in Wheaton beginning on Tuesday, July 29 and running through Sunday, August 24. There will be a “Meet the Artist” reception at the Gallery on Sunday, August 3 from 1:00 – 5:00 PM. Please don’t miss the opportunity to see Pam Gordimer’s work and to speak with her in person at the MAA Gallery.

MAA Meeting & Newsletter Reminder October 8, 2014

Just a reminder that with the approaching of our Kensington Paint The Town Labor Day Show, the next MAA monthly meeting will not take place until Wednesday, October 8, 2014. Terry Pellmar, a digital imaging artist, who will discuss and demonstrate her approach to producing her art. Terry is a regular participant in the MAA Gallery shows and her work always draws a lot of interest.

Also, please make a note that beginning in October our monthly MAA Meetings will be held at Washington ArtWorks. The facility is located at 12276 Wilkins Avenue, Rockville, MD. For more information about the facility go to info@WashingtonArtWorks.com or call 301-654-1998

In Memory of Jane Preece

MAA is sad to report the passing of local artist and instructor, Jane Preece. Many members of MAA took classes from Jane over the years. She lost her five year battle with cancer earlier this summer. Jane was co-founder of the Olney Art Association (OAA) and a few years ago conducted a colored pencil workshop for MAA. In honor of Jane, there was a showing of her work in July at the Leisure Word clubhouse. She will be missed by the local artist community.

Roza Matlin
Michelle Morgan

As noted in the Labor Day Show Registration, the annual renewal process resumes on September 1 so please remember to renew your membership. It allows MAA to continue its current member benefits and to expand them.

Please help your local art association continue to grow and prosper. As we have noted before, the opportunity of the MAA Gallery clearly continues to draw new members into our group. Membership in MAA is an easy case to make to your fellow artists. Recruit a new member today!

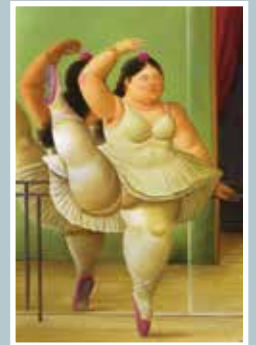

MAA— Celebrating 60 years of service in 2014!

We apologize to any members whose names are not listed. We will catch up with you next month.

September 28, 2013–September 28, 2014 Freer

National Museum of the American Indian

Fourth Street & Independence Ave, S.W. Washington, DC 20560 202-633-1000

Indelible: The Platinum Photographs of Larry McNeil and Will Wilson

June 07, 2014–January 15, 2015
Using a Nineteenth Century technique, these photographers explore the faces of fellow Native Americans. Both challenge the viewer to recognize that Native Americans, regardless of how much they integrate their traditional culture into their daily lives, remain as much a part of modern life as any other citizen.

Visions from the Forests: The Art of Liberia and Sierra Leone

William Siegmann (1943-2011), former curator of African art at the Brooklyn Museum lived in Sierra Leone between 1965 and 1987 where he amassed this wonderful and varied collection. It will teach the attendees much about the traditional culture of the country between the 15th and 18th centuries.

African Mosaic: Celebrating a Decade of Collecting

Ongoing
The centerpiece of this exhibition is the sculpture of Haitian leader Toussaint Louverture by Senegalese sculptor Ousmane Sow. The curator states that he wants the viewers to challenge themselves, to ask what, why and how each of these pieces was created physically as well as the overall meaning of each work.

National Portrait Gallery/Smithsonian American Art Museum

8th St. at F St., NW, Washington, DC (202) 633-1000 (voice/tape) The National Portrait Gallery (NPG) and the Smithsonian American Art Museum (SAAM) both contain many permanent exhibits that easily allow for many visits. These two connected galleries, which are part of the Smithsonian Institution, form a national treasure of American paintings and sculpture. The buildings just reopened recently after a nearly 6 year renovation which has restored them to their original states. This included restoration of the exquisite stained glass windows in both ceilings and walls, and the repair of the beautiful floor and wall tiling.

Face Value: Portraiture in the Age of Abstraction

April 18, 2014 - January 11, 2015
Alice Neel, Elaine de Kooning, Rauschenberg, Beauford Delaney, Bearden, Fairfield Porter, Jamie Wyeth are some of those painters who found themselves in the odd position of doing works that defied what was happening in the art world of 1945 to 1975. These painters will show you how they grappled with representing the human face in form in an age where it was considered out of touch art work.

Ralph Fasenella-Lest We Forget

May 2, 2014- August 3, 2014

Never formally trained, this artist became a voice of the Everyman. Growing up, he absorbed the working class values of his close knit Italian immigrant family. And it is the values-hard work, empathy, love, the need for social justice-that form the bedrock of his work.

Modern American Realism: The Sara Roby Foundation Collection

February 28, 2014 – August 17, 2014

Paul Cadmus, Edward Hopper, and Jacob Lawrence are but a few of the artists represented in this collection that spans 1910 to 1989. While technically the works encompass an American view of realism, many stray so far from the path that one of the curators said he struggled with this definition. MAA members might enjoy

William Kloss' lecture on March 7 at 6:00 PM at the gallery, when he explores just what this means in a lecture entitled Roby Realism

Pop Art Prints-SAAM

March 21, 2014 – August 31, 2014

Focusing on the 1960's, the visitor will be able to see how the artists represented used lithography and serigraphy to allow multiple prints in order to reach more patrons who wanted original works. Highlighting the culture of the time, most of the works are bright, often comic strip like.

American Cool -NPG

February 7, 2014 -September 7, 2014

Fine-art photographers from Henri Cartier-Bresson to Annie Leibovitz, from Richard Avedon to Herman Leonard to Diane Arbus define the word "cool". 'Nuff said.

Seeing Music in Medieval Manuscripts

June 28, 2014-October 12, 2014

In the Medieval era music was not jotted down on scraps but consisted of illuminated works of art. This exhibit explores the relationships between music, religion, and other arts. Its twenty manuscripts give the visitor an eye into how people in the Middle Ages saw music and what it represented in relation to life.
