FEATURED ARTIST OF THE MONTH: Roxanne Ando

About 12 years ago, Roxanne Ando started taking classes in Chinese/Asian brush painting (sumi-e) and began connecting to her Asian heritage. She studied with local Chinese artists Helene McCarthy (bird/flower style of brush painting) and Freda Lee McCann (landscape style). Traditional Asian painting differs from Western-style painting both in technique and philosophy, and greatly appeals to Roxanne. An Asian landscape represents a journey that your eye travels as you view different parts of the picture; the perspective and light can come from many directions.

Roxanne had decided to explore art and music as an alternative to her long career in the nonprofit sector working primarily with low-income elderly. After some encouragement, she now regularly shows her work through MAA and the Hyattsville Community Artists Alliance.
